Congregational Discernment Conversations

With Shug Goodlow and Adam Pearson

This fall, Shug Goodlow and Adam Pearson, members of the Diocesan Standing Committee, will lead four congregational discernment gatherings following Sunday worship. Shug and Adam will guide the congregation in a series of conversations and exercises that will help the parish continue to grow together, identify missional goals, and to discern how and where God is calling the Episcopal Church of All Saints and Ascension. The hope is that these conversations will be fruitful and foster an atmosphere of bonding and aid the congregation in further understanding its cultural, liturgical, and missional identity, and prepare the church for its next chapter.

Everyone in the parish is invited and encouraged to attend these sessions.
